Our primary objective is tailored and achievable solutions that will work for the organisation and its people. We engage our clients in a partnership that ensures long-term mutual gain. We work with management and staff to:

- Design people strategies for success;
- Develop people to enable them to deliver;
- Support behaviour change and drive new ways of thinking;
- Engage in creative initiatives to embed change and bring about and sustain high performing cultures.

The opportunity we pursue is to transform (in the true sense of the word) individuals and businesses / organisations, primarily through behaviour change and organisational development, otherwise known as O & D. Behaviour change is achieved through Executive / Leadership, Business, and Life Coaching, our Coaching Conversations workshop, self-mastery workshop and associated book, mentoring, our unique "Straight Talk with Steve" and "Happiness Now" offerings, talks, and customised interventions.

We are passionate about designing sustainable interventions and results for our clients. We believe in the importance of people, and know that extraordinary performance is a consequence of exceptional teamwork and interdependence.

Steve Krummeck is the founder and owner of the Close Corporation. Steve founded his coaching practice in October 2005 and formed the Close Corporation in 2007.

What we believe in

We are a values based service provider driven to unlock value, enable individuals realise their true and full potential, and to identify value adding transformation solutions to our clients problems/opportunities.

Our vision is to enable our clients realise their true and full potential and a degree of self-mastery, maximise their outputs, and transform their businesses / organisations, careers, interpersonal relationships, and lives, to their chosen future desired state.

We are recognized as the preferred coaching and transformation (in the true sense of the word) service provider, world class, and the most highly effective, value-add coaching organisation available in our specified field of coaching in South Africa and abroad.

We value integrity, professionalism, excellence, service efficiency and delivery, and a prosperous, sustainable future for humanity as a whole.

Satisfaction

Through collaboration and cooperation with our clients, the team at (W)Right Coaching maximises the impact of individual passion, commitment, creativity, and determination to add value, to ensure client satisfaction.

Success

We are committed to achieve 'success' in all our client projects, which success is defined jointly between (W)Right Coaching and our clients.

Business Model

The business prides itself in its professional and supportive approach to clients. We have associates on hand when extra capacity is required. Our business model enables (W)Right Coaching to provide services across South Africa, Africa- and other international countries. This provides for flexibility in regard to managing a large number of projects.

Services are rendered primarily in the private sector, across all industries. Although (W)Right Coaching specialises in corporate People Development solutions, we occasionally assist individuals in their private capacity to identify and address development / transformation needs.

In terms of our business model, we apply an analytical process of mapping the status quo and future desired 'state' to provide clients with practical business solutions. Amongst other services offered, this may also include strategy and business plan review and or formulation. Where possible and in collaboration with our clients', we aim for evidence-based interventions. Typically we apply various tools and products during the diagnostic- and intervention phases, analyse and interpret information and explain the results within the context of the project scope. Special care is taken to present information in such a way that managers identify with the proposed solution in driving the business forward.

Although we are particularly interested in the leadership pipeline, and the development of current and emerging leaders, we specialise in all aspects of talent management on all organisational levels, always incorporating people, processes, and technology.

Through our professional associations we are in a position to be technology driven and provide internet-based solutions for some of our services (such as assessments). This strategy proves to be convenient and cost-effective to clients; at the same time it enables our coaches and consultants spend more quality time with their clients and to build and maintain business relationships.

(W)Right Coaching is relationship driven, and we strive to have long-term engagements with our clients, thereby ensuring sustainable change and related measurable solutions. Our relationship with our clients can best be described as 'business partners' where we endeavour to understand the goals and vision of our clients so that we can support them in their strategic imperatives. Together we identify shortcomings, and develop & implement solutions to optimise organisational performance. In doing so, (W)Right Coaching demonstrates flexibility in the search for innovative, value-adding solutions.

People Development Philosophy

Rather than offering all clients the same solution using a single set of pre-defined instruments / interventions, we design customised solutions. As a result Steve Krummeck continuously scans the business environment in order to stay abreast with new developments in the field of People Development, to offer the client the best solutions possible.

By in large (W)Right Coaching approaches People Development solutions from three different perspectives; the Individual, the Team, and the Organisation. Depending on the context, the proposed solution may impact on any one or more of these areas.

Below is a brief explanation of the relevance of these perspectives in the process of providing People Development Solutions

Organisation

The strategic intent of the organisation, along with its unfolding culture, are but two of the lenses (W)Right Coaching takes into consideration when designing tailored interventions. While goals are diverse they are mostly centred around the aim of achieving optimal organisational performance. A number of diagnostic tools can be used to identify problem areas / opportunities within the business.

Team

To optimise the team's performance, (W)Right Coaching assists clients in the design and facilitation of team development interventions (such as team and or one-on-one coaching). The most appropriate instruments and techniques are selected to identify the reason(s) for unsatisfactory team performance. Part of the focus would be to engage in analyses of team functioning as well as instruments to enhance understanding between colleagues. Once the team profile is known and barriers have been identified, (W)Right Coachings coaches would provide group and or one-on-one coaching and other similar interventions to improve performance on team level.

Individual

The most granular of our interventions exist on the individual level. The context of the team and the organisation is never far removed from the individual and this is always the framework of any individual intervention. (W)Right Coaching uses a wide range of tools (such as one-on-one interviews and assessments) to gain insight into the individual's capacity to perform. More often than not, an individual's performance is a function of both their ability to perform, and their level of motivation. An individual's assessment profile can serve (if assessments are used in an intervention with our client) as a critical source of information when planning the most appropriate intervention. (W)Right Coaching is equipped to plan and facilitate a variety of development strategies, which may include individual coaching or similar interventions.

(W)Right Coaching executive coaching panel

We have a number of coaches, mentors, psychologists, psychometrics', and other associated professionals on our panel who are either certified coaches, and or hold masters/PhD degrees in coaching and or their related area of expertise. All our coaches are members of COMENSA (Coaches and Mentors of South Africa) and or the International Coaching Federation (ICF).

(W)Right Coaching executive coaching services overview

(W)Right Coaching Group has undertaken a number of similar projects to-date and has extensive experience and credibility in the project design, implementation and project management of small, medium and large scale 'executive coaching', mentoring, and organisational and development projects in South Africa. Our diverse panel of executive coaches reflects our understanding of the background and context within which various sectors operate.

Our mission is to enable the leaders of tomorrow NOW, toward prosperous organisations and a sustainable world.

The outcomes of the assessment/s are integrated into the coaching intervention, thereby ensuring maximum return on investment. Assessments are optional and highly recommended.

If appropriate and agreed between all stakeholders, an Industrial Psychologist from the assessment centre is included in the upfront "briefing session", thereby affording an opportunity to discuss any further assessments that should be included in interventions, (thus affording maximum return on investment for the coachee {the person being coached}).

“The Game of Life & Success – The Steps to Self Mastery & Happiness”
Workshop – Varies from client to client, either over three days or an eight week programme

Personal Transformation & Personal Mastery workshop

This is arguably one of the most powerful transformation programmes available on the market. The workshop was developed as a consequence of Steve Krummeck’s book, “The Game of Life & Success – The Steps to Self Mastery & Happiness” being published, as well as the HUGE need worldwide for individuals to transform their lives, careers, relationships, and businesses / organisations they work within / lead / own.

As with the book, the outcomes are profound but more deeply integrated as a consequence of the ‘steps’ being ‘taken on’ through processes carried out during the workshop. Outcomes as outlined in the book section above apply to the workshop as well.

The workshop can be run for single participants (minimum of ten attendees is required to run the workshop), groups, and or businesses / organisation.

The Game of Life & Success – Steps to Self Mastery & Happiness
Talk - Between two to five hours

Participants will receive an overview of the sixteen ‘steps’ featured in the book by the same title, a high level overview of the process to take on the ‘steps’, as well as the benefits (self-mastery and therefore the likelihood of drawing to them that which they desire {within reason}) of taking on the ‘steps’ as a way of being.

The Happiness Now workshop

An eight week programme, once a week for five hours per session

Steve Krummeck (company owner & lead coach) is the only person in South Africa who has developed and runs a workshop to train individuals and groups on how to be happy / happier AND the benefits of being happy as detailed below.

The Happiness Now workshop in question utilises processes (amongst others as detailed in my book, “The Game of Life & Success – Steps to Self Mastery & Happiness) that were developed by an international expert who holds a PHD in happiness. The workshop enables individuals to be happy / happier and to feel good on an ongoing basis. Other benefits of attending the workshop appear below.

This workshop is highly interactive, fun, energising uplifting, and life transforming. The workshop can be run for single participants (minimum of ten attendees is required to run the workshop), groups, and or businesses / organisation.

Why Happiness & the Benefits of Happiness – The Case for YOU and Business / Organisations

People who are happy or become happy/happier through this programme tend to be more effective, be more cooperative, are pro-social and charitable, are more likely to enjoy superior work outcomes (Greater Creativity, Increased Productivity, Higher Quality of Work, and earn Higher Incomes), are more likely to have a stronger immune system, are more likely to live longer, are more likely to be more emotionally healthy, are more likely to enjoy larger social rewards (More likely to marry, Less likely to become divorced, More likely to have more friends, More likely to enjoy stronger social support, More likely to enjoy richer social interactions), are more likely to be more active, have greater energy and flow, and are more likely to exhibit greater self-control and coping abilities.

Recent studies are revealing an important reason why happiness is so important to us all. A growing body of research is demonstrating that as we become happier, the quality of our lives improves dramatically and in general we become better people. As we become happier we become more compassionate, more creative, more energetic, more financially successful, more emotionally and physically healthy, and more effective and productive in the work place. Organisations / businesses that have a happy culture and happy employees, a happy way of being, enjoy all the foregoing as well as reduced stress levels and reduced absenteeism, and therefore less medical claims. In employees there is greater commitment, confidence, contributions in general, and more of an inclination towards achieving their and the businesses full potential. Research shows that anywhere between forty to sixty percent of the population is unhappy at any given point in time, equating to a large percentage of the population / of your employees either not enjoying, or enjoying less of all the foregoing. This alone is a powerful case for being happy and or bringing about a positive, happy culture within your business / organisation.

In 1980, the New Zealand team of Lichter, Haye and Kammann conducted their own happiness-increase experiments using different strategies, and in 1983, Dr. Fordyce replicated and refined his initial study. These three classic papers showed that individuals could be taught to increase their happiness (an average of 25 percent) through training lasting only a few weeks.

“The Happiness Now” – Talk

This one and a half hour talk (two hours if the session includes participants designing their own vision board) assists participants understand what happiness is, what ‘Being’ happy entails, what the benefits of being happy in one’s life, relationships, career, AND organisation are, and how to become and STAY happy, to be in a ‘state’ of ‘Being’ happy.

This highly interactive, fun, energising talk gives participants steps and tools to be happy, increase their levels of happiness, and enjoy the benefits of Being happy / happier.

Happiness Assessments

Two European assessments are used during the Happiness Now workshop to determine how happy / unhappy individuals are, as well as how good or bad individuals are feeling.

The outcomes of these assessments’ highlight individuals who are not happy / could be happier, those who feel bad as opposed to good, and therefore those individuals who should go on our Happiness Now workshop. Scientific evidence shows that individuals’ who attend happiness workshops such as ours, enjoy the benefits outlined in the Happiness Workshop outlined above.

Why focus on your happiness, happy employees, and a happy culture?

A growing body of research is demonstrating that as we become happier, the quality of our lives improves dramatically and in general we become better people. As we become happier we become more compassionate, more creative, more energetic, more financially successful, more emotionally and physically healthy, and more effective and productive in the work place.

Businesses and organisations' (hence forth referred to as "business" / "businesses") that have a happy culture and happy employees, a happy way of being, enjoy all the foregoing as well as reduced stress levels and reduced absenteeism, and therefore less medical claims. In individuals there is greater commitment, confidence, self-belief, motivation, contributions in general, and more of an inclination towards achieving their and the businesses / organisations' full potential. Research shows that anywhere between forty to sixty percent of the population is unhappy at any given point in time, equating to a large percentage of the population / of your employees either not enjoying, or enjoying less of all the foregoing. This alone is a powerful case for being happy and or bringing about a positive, happy culture within your business, and therefore measuring the levels of happiness in your business.

The Good News

Research shows overwhelmingly that individuals and groups can be 'taught' to be happy within a couple of weeks. That is, participants' happiness levels increase through happiness training, such as through attending The Happiness Now workshop. The Happiness Now workshop (details available at the following internet site <http://www.twrcc.co.za/workshops-happiness-now.html>) has proven its worth by tracking participants' happiness levels as well as how 'good or bad' they felt over the eight week workshop. That is, those who've attended the Happiness Now workshop show a steady increase in their happiness levels and how good they felt, week after week while attending The Happiness Now workshop. Furthermore, the shifts are sustained due to workshop attendees shifting into a 'state' of Being happy. In addition to this, workshop attendees tend to have improved heart rate functioning, or heart rhythm coherence, improved cognitive functioning, and improved body chemistry (all contributing to improved emotional, mental, and physical health and wellbeing).
